FreeCodeCamp

As a self-motivated web developer, I have successfully completed certifications through FreeCodeCamp. With a solid foundation in HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and responsive design, I excel in building user-friendly interfaces and ensuring cross-browser compatibility. I possess a problem-solving mindset, thrive in collaborative environments, and remain dedicated to continuous learning. I am eager to contribute my skills and passion to web development projects

Work experience

- I developed a school management system for two local schools, simplifying tasks such as student registration and grade management. This project strengthened my problem-solving skills and deepened my enthusiasm for leveraging technology in the field of education.
- I freelanced on platforms like Fiverr and Upwork, collaborating remotely with clients on diverse projects, expanding my network and delivering exceptional results.
